

Understanding to Hold Harmless

Customer confirms that it is in receipt of all items it ordered from OnPoynt Unmanned Systems, LLC dba OnPoynt Aerial Solutions (heretofore the “Seller”). Customer further confirms that it has inspected all items received to ensure conformance with its original order and to determine whether any items were damaged in transit.

Customer understands that Seller is not the manufacturer of the items purchased, and acknowledges that Seller has made no warranties, whether expressed or implied, concerning any of the items purchased. Customer further acknowledges and understands that all issues concerning the items, including any issues affecting or invoking the manufacturer’s warranty, should be directly addressed to the manufacturer of said item.

Customer acknowledges that it has reviewed and understands all federal, state, county, and municipal regulations, laws, and rules concerning ownership and operation of unmanned aircraft. Customer further acknowledges that it has taken all necessary steps required to ensure full compliance with any and all regulatory licensing requirements concerning ownership and operation of unmanned aircraft, and that it has not relied upon Seller to establish and maintain its compliance with these regulations.

By taking delivery of these items and exercising dominion and control of said items, Customer assumes full responsibility for the items purchased from Seller. The term “full responsibility” entails, but is not limited to, reporting product defects, monitoring for product recalls, pursuing warranty claims with relation to any of the items ordered, and ensuring proper training of all persons that may use any of the items purchased.

OnPoynt Aerial Solutions
1 October, 2016